A Message from our Chief Executive Officer

Dear Friends,

In 2017 we saw something extraordinary. We watched the walls of the National Law Enforcement Museum at the Motorola Solutions Foundation Building be built and the interior exhibition floor, café and gift shop take shape. Once the roof of the Museum was completed, construction began on the two glass pavilions that will serve as the entrance and exit of this marvelous building.

We have led tours through the construction site for many donors and supporters. Needless to say, everyone is excited and cannot wait until October 2018 when we will finally open the doors to the public and show them the Museum we have been working on for two decades!

We held our 29th annual Candlelight Vigil in May, drawing a crowd estimated at more than 30,000 people to the National Mall to honor fallen law enforcement officers. It was an amazing sight to watch thousands of candles lit between the U.S. Capitol and Washington Monument. Each year, in the faces of the visitors at the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial during National Police Week, we can see how important it is for them to be here honoring their loved ones.

Also in 2017, we announced the hiring of David Brant, the new Memorial Fund Chief Operating Officer and Museum Executive Director. Mr. Brant, a former director of the Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS), officially assumed these roles in June. We are grateful to him for his thought leadership, immense skills, and his desire to meet the challenges of our major project.

A new era is upon the Memorial Fund, and I am hopeful you will join us when the Museum opens in 2018. Your support makes all of this possible and I want to express my deepest thanks and appreciation.

CRAIG W. FLOYD

Chief Executive Officer

Our Mission and Vision

Our Mission:

To tell the story of American law enforcement and make it safer for those who serve

Our Vision:

To inspire all citizens to value law enforcement

Our Longevity:

Founded in 1984 and proudly serving the nation for more than 30 years

Our Work

HONORING FALLEN LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS

Throughout the year, and especially during National Police Week each May, the Memorial Fund coordinates events that honor fallen officers and their loved ones. New names are engraved on the Memorial each April, and formally dedicated on May 13 during the annual Candlelight Vigil. In addition, many other events are held at the Memorial during National Police Week and throughout the year, including wreathlaying ceremonies, group tours and other events that honor fallen officers.

INCREASING PUBLIC SUPPORT

The significant sacrifices and contributions our officers make will be saluted when the National Law Enforcement Museum opens directly across the street from the Memorial. The Museum will tell the story of law enforcement in America and provide visitors a “walk in the shoes” experience. It will expand and enrich the relationship shared by law enforcement and the community.

PROMOTING OFFICER SAFETY

The Memorial Fund serves as a national clearinghouse for information and statistics on law enforcement line-of-duty deaths, maintaining a comprehensive database detailing the circumstances of these fatalities and publishing reports that identify trends and factors related to officer fatalities. Memorial Fund staff make safety presentations at law enforcement conferences and expos, and design and disseminate collateral to convey current safety tactics.

Our New Chief Operating Officer

In June, the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund announced the hiring of David L. Brant who serves as the Memorial Fund's Chief Operating Officer and Executive Director of the National Law Enforcement Museum, scheduled to open in the fall of 2018 in Washington, DC.

Mr. Brant, a former Director of the Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS), officially assumed his new roles on June 5, overseeing the day-to-day operations of the Memorial Fund, as well as the construction, opening, and operation of the Museum.

Mr. Brant has more than 30 years of law enforcement experience and was, most recently, the Managing Director of the Public Sector Practice at BDO.

Previously, he was a Director at Deloitte Consulting where he led multiple projects with the U.S. Marshals Service, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, among others.

"After serving as a volunteer leader of the Museum for many years, I'm very passionate about the role this organization—and specifically the Museum—will play in helping strengthen the relationship between law enforcement officers and citizens in the communities they serve," Mr. Brant shared.

Honoring Our Heroes

For the second year, the Candlelight Vigil was held on the National Mall in Washington, DC. Bookended by the U.S. Capitol and Washington Monument, a sea of candles lit up the brisk night in May. This signature event for National Police Week brings tens of thousands of visitors to the nation's capital to honor the more than 21,000 fallen officers whose names are engraved on the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial.

“WE GATHER TONIGHT ON THE NATIONAL MALL, UNDER THE SHADOWS OF TWO OF THIS CITY’S MOST RECOGNIZABLE MONUMENTS, JOINED BY THE NEED AND DESIRE, THE PRIVILEGE, TO HONOR THE 21,183 NAMES ON THE SACRED MEMORIAL WALLS.”

- Craig W. Floyd, CEO of the Memorial Fund

Themed “A Legacy of Honor,” the Vigil highlighted the legacy of law enforcement as the respected and honored career of which 900,000 men and women in this country are a part. We dedicated the names of the 394 heroes who were added to the Memorial in 2017 and honored the officers they joined on the walls.

Several dignitaries and speakers honored the fallen, including Memorial Fund Board Chairman John Ashcroft. U.S. Attorney General Jeff Sessions and then-Department of Homeland Security Secretary John Kelly also participated in the annual tribute to fallen law enforcement officers.

National Mall, Washington, DC

Police Unity Tour

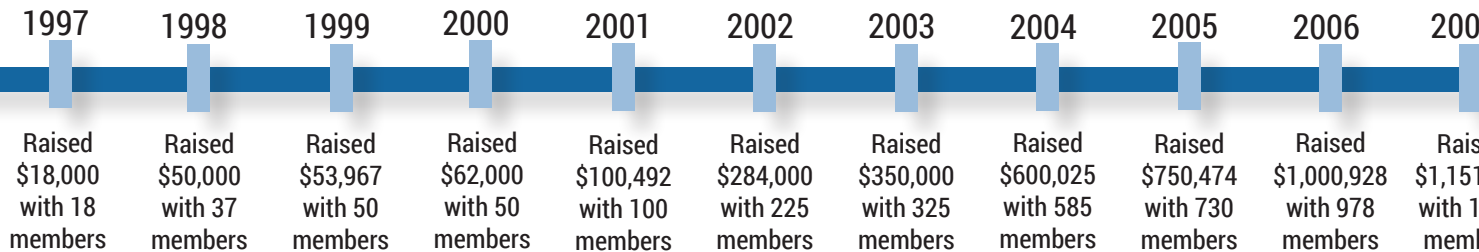

On a cold and rainy day in May, more than 2,300 cyclists, motor patrols and support personnel arrived at the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial after a three-day trek through different parts of the East Coast. Ending their journey, they presented a check to the Memorial Fund in the amount of $2,600,000 — the accumulation of a year of fundraising by these participants.

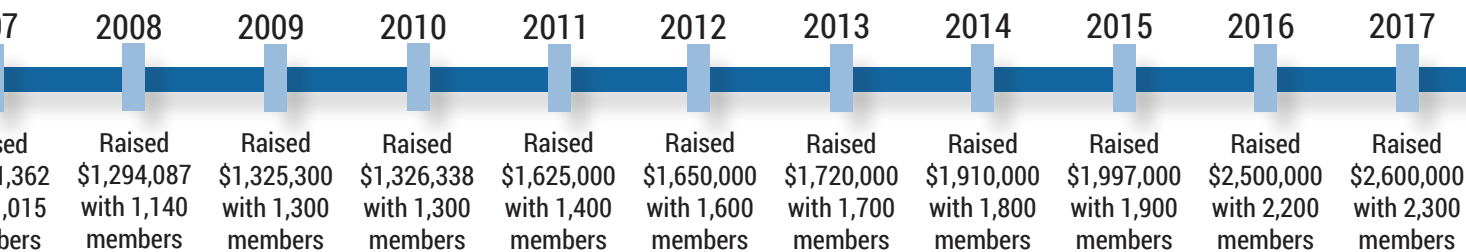

The Police Unity Tour started in 1997 as an idea from then-Florham Park (NJ) Police Officer Pat Montuore to organize a bike ride from New Jersey to Washington, DC, to raise public awareness about law enforcement officers who died in the line of duty. Now 20 years later, the organization remains dedicated to ensuring that the sacrifice made by fallen officers is not forgotten. Their support has helped the Memorial Fund maintain the national monument and expand programs, such as the Officer of the Month Awards.

The Police Unity Tour helped champion the creation of the National Law Enforcement Museum and they are the sponsor of the Hall of Remembrance and the Museum's east entry pavilion.

Police Unity Tour Through the Years

“TONIGHT WE WILL ALL BE LIGHTING A CANDLE, BUT
THUS CARRY THE LIGHT OF THAT CANDLE WITH US
TO OUR FAMILIES, TO OUR COMMUNITIES, TO OUR SYNAGOGUES; CHURCHES AND MOSQUES; WHEREVER THAT LIGHT CAN SHINE: THE LIGHT TO SUSTAIN LIBERTY AND RESPECT FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT. ”

- Board Chairman John Ashcroft at the 2017 Candlelight Vigil

Tribute Campaign

In 2017, the Memorial Fund continued our partnership with Clear Channel Outdoor to raise awareness of our nation's fallen officers. The campaign included officer tributes shown on digital billboards and bus shelter displays across the nation. Also included were displays informing viewers about the 29th Annual Candlelight Vigil and encouraging them to light a virtual candle.

Law Enforcement Appreciation

The Memorial Fund continued to partner with professional sports organizations throughout the country and extend its mission beyond the marble walls of the Memorial by reaching out to law enforcement supporters in their communities. These events provide a special partnership that recognize local law enforcement and educate the general public about our mission.

Many events include local law enforcement officers who participate in pre-game ceremonies, such as an Honor Guard's presentation of colors or performance of the National Anthem. The program has raised more than $500,000 for the Memorial Fund since 2011.

Some of the co-branded souvenirs that attendees receive from sports teams include commemorative law enforcement challenge coins, team baseball hats, tumblers, T-shirts, law enforcement patches, and hockey pucks.

Law Enforcement Appreciation Events could not be successful without Brent Clark, our dedicated volunteer coordinator, the support of local law enforcement organizations, and teams that participate.

Officer of the Month Awards

Our Officer of the Month Awards program recognizes law enforcement heroes who distinguish themselves through exemplary service, heroic actions, and devotion to duty. These officers were honored at our Annual Awards Dinner in Washington, DC, during National Police Week and at local ceremonies, some of which were widely attended and covered by local media.

Run for the Badge

$137,636 Raised!

The 2017 Run for the Badge 5K was held at the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial!

The focus remained on creating a fun, meaningful experience for our runners, walkers, and virtual participants. As a result, we saw the event grow to 1,155 participants in 2017, with almost $140,000 going to support the mission of the Memorial Fund!

The Museum

Constructing a museum about law enforcement

The National Law Enforcement Museum will be the first national museum to tell the story of American law enforcement through exhibits, artifacts, research and education programs.

Authorized by Congress and nearing completion, the Museum is a 57,000-square-foot building that is largely underground and located steps from the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial at Judiciary Square in Washington, DC.

With the installation of the Museum's two glass pavilions the exterior of the building is now complete. Work has centered on the building's interior where elevators and the HVAC system were installed and the Museum's walls have been constructed.

Exhibitions, along with the Museum's collection of more than 20,000 artifacts, are being prepped and will begin to be installed in the summer of 2018.

The Museum will tell the story of American law enforcement through its immersive and interactive exhibits, comprehensive collection of artifacts, extensive resources for research and diverse educational programming.

Museum Educational Programs

The National Law Enforcement Museum continues to grow its education programs to reach new and larger audiences. In addition to telling the story of American law enforcement, the Museum's goal is to expand and enrich the relationship shared by law enforcement and the community. Its education programs are designed to provide participants with the necessary tools to develop and enhance critical thinking, problem-solving and decision-making skills.

Educational Workshops and Camps

The Museum's interactive and educational workshops emphasize important science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) skills while presenting content in a fun and engaging environment. Visiting school groups can look forward to workshops on fingerprinting, pathology, cybercrimes, and more when the Museum opens its doors in fall 2018.

In 2017, the Museum interacted with 230 students nationwide through FieldTripZoom, a virtual classroom experience providing forensic science and history programs. Our popular Forensic Detectives Summer Camp, generously funded by Battelle in 2017, allowed students to explore the messy and meticulous world of crime scene investigation, evidence analysis, and detective work.

Public Events

The National Law Enforcement Museum hosts public events that inform, engage, and strengthen the bonds between law enforcement officers and the communities they serve. In 2017, the Museum welcomed former New York Police Commissioner Bill Bratton as part of its Conversations on Law Enforcement series. More than 100 people attended this free program.

Engagement and On-Going Feedback

The Museum engages relevant stakeholders in providing crucial feedback on our numerous educational programs.

In September, the Museum hosted our first Evening for Educators Open House. Museum Executive Director David Brant and U.S. Park Police Chief Robert MacLean attended the event along with educators from the greater Washington, DC, area to discuss the importance of dialogue and engagement between educators and the Museum.

Witness to History & Conversations on Law Enforcement

The Witness to History series focuses on significant events in law enforcement history, conveyed through the insights of those who witnessed them. In January, close to 200 people joined us for Eagle One: Rescue and Recovery of Air Florida Flight 90, a fascinating event marking 35 years since the crash. Retired U.S. Park Police Pilot Don Usher, retired Metropolitan (DC) Police Department Detective Eric Witzig and cameraman Chester Panzer talked about their memories of the crash and efforts to rescue the few survivors.

The Conversations on Law Enforcement series explores contemporary issues to strengthen the relationship between law enforcement and the communities they serve. In November, retired New York (NY) Police Commissioner William J. Bratton reflected on his 50-year career in law enforcement, sharing his unique perspective as the only person to serve as the top cop for the Boston, New York and Los Angeles police departments.

Promoting Officer Safety

Destination Zero

In just four years, the Destination Zero program, in partnership with the Department of Justice Bureau of Justice Assistance, has become a success. More than 1,000 law enforcement departments throughout the country have submitted their own programs to keep their officers safe and healthy. The frameworks and resources of the Destination Zero winners and finalists are available at www.DestinationZero.org.

In 2017, the program recognized the work of these departments:

Grants and Programs

The Department of Justice's VALOR program and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration have continued their work with the Memorial Fund for the promotion of officer safety training sessions, as well as specially-designed social media posts directed at law enforcement officers.
